We reference the Code of Ethics for the Physical Therapist.

With our physical therapy hand device we aim to address treatment for those who would benefit from remote commitment to treatment[2][3], adapting to modern trends to benefit therapists[6] and clients[7] and serving those without consistent access to therapy[8].

Principle #2: Physical therapists shall be trustworthy and compassionate in addressing the rights and needs of patients and clients.

Principle #3: Physical therapists shall be accountable for making sound professional judgments.

Principle #6: Physical therapists shall enhance their expertise through the lifelong acquisition and refinement of knowledge, skills, abilities, and professional behaviors.

Principle #7: Physical therapists shall promote organizational behaviors and business practices that benefit patients and clients and society.

Principle #8: Physical therapists shall participate in efforts to meet the health needs of people locally, nationally, or globally.
